His advice has been gleaned thru many years of gardening in the area. He has first hand knowlege of what grows, what doesn't and what shouldn't. Arizona ash should be grown in this area because it is too brittle and has too short a live-span. Red tipped photinia shouldn't because it gets HUGE and dies in a long hard winter (think 1982)0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. a good, useful readBy Susan DExcellent resource. With 10 growing zones in Texas, you need to know your USDA growing zone so you can make sure you apply the correct info for your location.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. A must have for the Texas gardenerBy Scott M.A must have for the Texas gardener. My wife uses it constantly.
