Designed for artists and crafters of all abilities, this title shows how to master this fun and exciting technique. The first section walks readers step by step through choosing and collecting materials, creating designs and patterns, perfecting bonding and grouting techniques and polishing and displaying finished pieces. Part two features pique assiette pieces from the simply made to the more elaborate and lists the techniques and materials used for each, along with full-colour, step-by-step instructional photographs.

About the Author Meera Lester is an internationally published writer based in San Jose, California, where she writes books, articles, and screenplays. Also an avid artist, Lester paints in oils and indulges her passion for pique assiette by decorating pots, bird baths, and stepping-stones in her garden. Artist Marsha Janda-Rosenberg has spent more than 30 years studying and creating art in a variety of diverse mediums, ranging from textiles to steel sculpture. Her current focus is mosaics where she has blended two of her passions--ceramics and gardening. In addition to having her pieces exhibited in galleries around California, Janda-Rosenberg teaches pique assiette and creates one-of-a-kind designs such as patios, walkways, and murals. Her studio is located in Soquel, California.
