John James Audubon : Audubon Birds Giftwrap Paper (Dover Giftwrap) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Audubon Birds Giftwrap Paper (Dover Giftwrap):

By Tiffany The bird patterns have a charming vintage look to them with a good amount of detail, so they look quite sophisticated. The sheets are well sized for most small presents; I used a quarter of one to wrap a poetry book for a friend's birthday. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Good. By S. Mahaffey So pretty! 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Smaller than expected. By Ravenhill I had bought "books" of gift wrap similar to this in the past, and they had more sheets. The description states how many sheets are in this but I was distracted by the pretty pictures. I bought a number in this series, and got many compliments on my wrapping.

James John Audubon (1783-1851), one of the pioneers of American ornithology is one of the best-known American naturalists and painters of the 19th century. Audubon's work represented a radical departure from the stilted bird paintings of the day. His birds, pictured in action, were vivid and dramatic, drawn not from museum specimens but from his own observation of birds in the wild. Although critics have cited his lack of scientific knowledge and his sometimes contrived and overly dramatic poses, Audubon's importance and influence on later generations of ornithologists and bird painters cannot be denied, and his Birds of America, published serially beginning in 1827, is probably the most famous collection of bird prints in the world. For this collection, V. Ann Waterman has used plates from the octavo edition of Birds of America to create four outstanding giftwrap papers.
