This is not a field manual print is small and the book is quit thick.1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Four StarsBy TIM wildness man out there....some times some timesgood stuff6 of 6 people found the following review helpful. camping and woodcraft kindleBy joe.manofleisureThis version of Camping and Woodcraft is poor. Like other customers mentioned it is missing quiet a bit from the latest hardcopy version and it is full of typos. The author of this kindle version should correct these deficiencies and send out an update. Very disappointing. The reprint of the hard copy of the original book is outstanding.

Heralded as the "bible of outdoorsmen" by hunters, campers, fishers, and crafters of all walks, Horace Kephart's perennially sought-after two-volume tome, Camping and Woodcraft, stands as an astounding testament to the vast depth and precision of the author's practical knowledge and profound love of life in the outdoors. A beacon of self-reliance with the intellectual appetite of the world's most accomplished scholars, Kephart spent his early years in voracious pursuit of knowledge as a precocious student, bibliophile, and librarian at such prestigious institutions as Yale University and the Saint Louis Mercantile, working as a freelance writer all the while. As he fell in love with the outdoors and the skills required to navigate them, Kephart grew proportionally dissatisfied with the daily monotony of life in academia, taking to the woods for days on end with increasing frequency before finally making the Great Smoky Mountains his permanent home. Based on the enormous collection of articles he penned for Field Stream, Kephart's Camping and Woodcraft is an invaluable treasury of wisdom and advice collected by Kephart over years of experimentation and refinement. Back in print for a new generation of wilderness-loving campers and sportsmen, this high quality new edition is a tremendous resource for anyone who loves the outdoors. 2015 re-issues of both volumes are individually available in paperback and hardcover from Churchill Dunn.

About the AuthorHorace Kephart was a popular American travel writer and librarian during the early twentieth century. During his lifetime, he published several books on the outdoors, including Camping and Woodcraft (1906), Camp Cookery (1910), and Our Southern Highlanders (1913). Kephart was an integral advocate in the creation of the National Parks System. He passed away in 1931 in Byson City, North Carolina. David Nash is a verifiable preparedness MacGyver. He is both an academically trained professional emergency manager as well as a personal prepper. Nash is also a homesteader who raises a variety of animals, bees, and plants in a small suburban yard. He runs the popular preppers blog www.tngun.com. He resides in Dickson, Tennessee.
