By AnnieLiz I love these card blanks -- I've made several of these cards for friends and family, and they all treasure the tiny quilt framed by these cards. The cards themselves are of high quality paper that feels hand made. You can use the pattern included with the cards, make one of the 3" blocks in Carol Doak's "50 Little Paper-Pieced Blocks" (which includes blocks for all occasions throughout the year), or make your own 3" block to insert into the card. Great idea, well executed ... love them! 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five Stars By Ali E. Make that special someone a meaningful card when you mount a small quilt block inside a 3" square window. Adhesive strips inside the card make for easy assembly, and an overleaf hides the back of your work. A package contains four 5" x 7" cards and color-matched envelopes made of heavy-weight archival handmade paper. (Love of Quilting, July 2013) About the Author Carol Doak discovered her love of quilting in 1979 when she took a seven-week basic quilting class in Worthington, Ohio. She taught that class the following year and discovered that she also loved to teach others how to make quilts. Since then she has taught more than a million people to quilt through her best-selling books and DVDs and by traveling to teach around the world. An innovator in the industry, Carol continues to wow the quilting world with her creative uses for paper piecing. Since writing her first paper-piecing book in 1993, she has designed more than a thousand paper-pieced designs. In 2009, the readers of Quilter's Newsletter magazine named her "Favorite Paper-Piecing Teacher." Her passion for designing and teaching is evident, whether you have taken a class from her or learned from her books and DVDs. Carol lives with her family in Salem, New Hampshire, where the cold winters give her a reason to stockpile fabric for insulation purposes.
